

ANIMALS IN WWI

What did horses do??
Mostly cavalry horses were used in battles. Let's of animals had to go to animal hospitals to Six their injuries.
Animals carried supplies, machine guns and bandages. Many horses died from cold because they didn't have warm stuff to protect them.

Pigeons could carry messages to soldiers but sometimes they could be shot down and get the enemy's plan. They were also sent from the trenches or from massive tanks. 20,000 pigeons died during the war and many got hurt. They were kept on London buses until the war was over. The soldiers came on the most of them. Cher Ami is famous for saving them all.

Dogs going on duty in WWI!!

Dogs were hard working and trusted. Also dogs could warn wounded soldiers and enemy's supplies. And they delivered medical equipment and messages for lines.
