

A Trip to Space

One day NASA sent a space team on a mission to Mars!

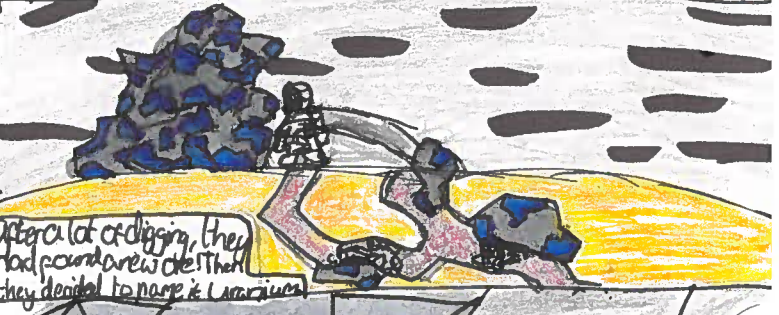

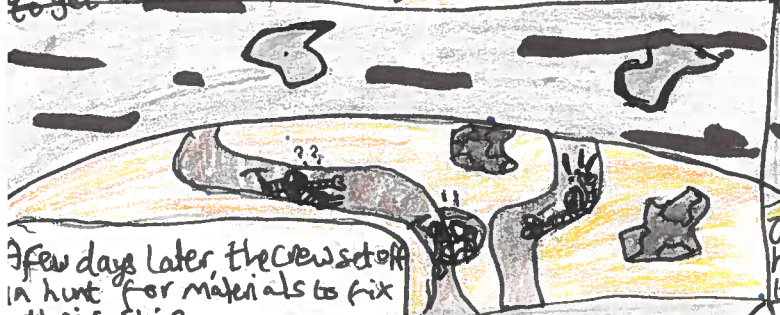

But, on their way there, they ran into a meteor storm and their rocket crashed. They crashed onto a mysterious planet. It was a deep yellow and orange, with rocks floating all around!!

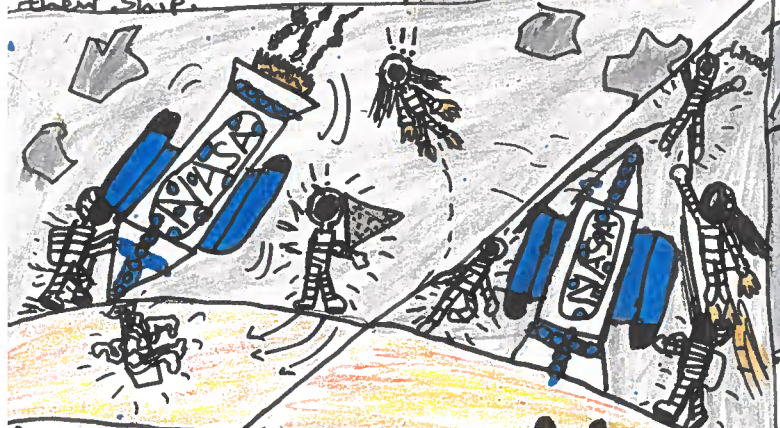

SOMEHOW one of the astronauts only got a tank manager to get a hole in it.

The three astronauts explored the planet, experimenting with growing plants, to trying to find a stream of water.

A few days later, the crew set off in a hunt for materials to fix their ship.

After a lot of digging, they had found a few plants that they decided to name 'Lunarium'.

After two weeks (or in their case, a day) of hard work they managed to fix their rocket and improved their space plan.

2 years later, they had decided to go back to earth! Sadly, the planet (which they had decided to name 'Lunarium') was not the right place for them to stay.